

Press Release - April 5th 2013, NYC. Loophole for All project newsletter.

Special Tax Day Offer! Everything Free on Loophole4All.com! & The Luxembourg Backlash

The Good News: Tax Day is April 15th and Loophole4All wants to help you to pay fewer taxes with an insane special offer: Providing all its services for free! You can now hijack an offshore Caymans company FOR FREE to avoid unjust taxes in your home country.

The Bad News: Loophole4All faces its first instance of repression, which is limiting its resources. PayPal suspended the account of Loophole4All.com, freezing the $700 raised in one month through selling the identities of Caymans companies. The reason: "PayPal may not be used to send or receive payments for items that encourage, promote, facilitate or instruct others to engage in illegal activity".

Loophole4All denies the accusations since it promotes and facilitates a form of civil disobedience and subversive art performance against corrupt and unjust laws. Meanwhile, PayPal (Ebay Inc.) is a company based in Luxembourg, an offshore country, and its own legality is questionable for evading responsibility to the rest of the world it operates in (generating some $145 billion not taxed anywhere).

Please Note: If you bought something on Loophole4All.com in the past your payment will be affected but not your order. Unfortunately, PayPal policy won't refund your payment before the next 180 days. However you can still access your companies on Loophole4All.com and if you bought paper documents they will be shipped to you in the next days.

This situation means that everyone will receive all the services and products provided by Loophole4All.com for free! However, please donate to keep the project alive and growing. This is one-starving-artist-enterprise against an entire country, several laws and hundred of thousands of corporations, now serving several types of audiences participating in this project. Please DONATE here:
